A life-long resident of Harrisburg, Charles “Chuck” Schmidt graduated from the University of Notre Dame and the Penn State University Dickinson School of Law. He was admitted to the Pennsylvania Bar in 1974 and the Federal Bar in 1979.

Mr. Schmidt is a former panel chairman of the Pennsylvania State Supreme Court Disciplinary Committee and a former Special Master in Dauphin County (a lawyer who is appointed to act like a judge, hear sworn testimony in divorce cases and render decisions). He holds professional memberships with the Association of Trial Lawyers of America and the Pennsylvania and the Central Pennsylvania Trial Lawyers Associations.

In addition to serving as an adjunct professor at Dickinson School of Law, Mr. Schmidt participates in numerous seminars giving lectures on ethics, legal malpractice, and topics relating to civil litigation.
